

GUIDE A NON-PROFIT IN TELLING THEIR STORY.

Apply to be a Sherpa for StoryGrowing WNY.

Across Western New York, we have so many non-profit organizations that are doing amazing work in our community. Many need help telling their stories. That's where StoryGrowing WNY comes in. Through a six-month communications capacity-building program, non-profits selected through an application process will learn how to better "tell their story" to communicate their mission, need, and impact in order to nurture their growth.

How you can help.

StoryGrowing WNY is currently looking for senior-level marketing and communications professionals to serve as Sherpas, who guide and mentor one of our participating nonprofit teams. As a StoryGrowing Sherpa, you'll work directly with a small group of individuals from a participating non-profit, guiding them in applying the learnings of the program to their organization.

POSITION DETAILS:

- Time commitment: January-June 2019
- Approximately 40 hours of time between January and June including time to work with your team and required attendance at the kick off event, monthly workshops and Sherpa meetings (2).
- Compensation: $3,000 to be invoiced and paid in two increments in March and June
