

THE STORY CONTINUES.

StoryGrowing WNY Application June–August 2022

Stories have the power to inform and inspire, excite and engage. As nonprofits face continued challenges, their storytelling must also evolve and adapt for various audiences and ever-changing community needs. We are thrilled to bring StoryGrowing WNY back to an in-person format—and have condensed the schedule to be more efficient and convenient for busy nonprofit professionals.

StoryGrowing WNY is a skill-building program designed to help nonprofits harness the power of storytelling and nurture organization growth through effective communications training. Through training provided by nationally recognized experts and local marketing communications professionals, your team will learn to cultivate stories and employ storytelling strategies to further the mission of your organization.

StoryGrowing WNY is presented by the Health Foundation for Western and Central New York and The John R. Oishei Foundation. For the 2022 cohort, up to eight organizations will be selected to participate at no cost. Please review the following document for program details, requirements, and application. If you have questions, please email info@storygrowingwny.org.

Each organization that applies should make a commitment to attend each session and to work hard to implement what you learn throughout your organization's communications.

What You'll Learn

StoryGrowing WNY features a variety of learning techniques—including lectures, workshops, private coaching, and guided development—designed to meet the following program objectives:

- Expand and enhance your storytelling ability
- Assess your organization's current brand position, communications strategy, and messaging
- Determine compelling key messages for your organization
- Identify and apply types of stories and their relevance to your organization's target audiences
- Apply storytelling in speaking, writing, photography, and videography
- Use stories in advocacy, development, recruiting, and other primary communications
- Effectively tell stories in-person, on social media, in written communication, and through community outreach strategies

Participation Requirements

All nonprofit organizations (501c3) in the eight counties of Western New York (Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Erie, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans, and Wyoming) are invited to apply. Foundations and consultants will not be considered. Special consideration will be given to those organizations working to improve the health and well-being of people in our region.

- Identify a team of more than one and no more than four participants that will commit to attending each of the training sessions. Within the participant group, it is preferred but not necessary that one team member must hold an executive-level role at the nonprofit. If the nonprofit has dedicated marketing and/or communications staff, it is strongly recommended that one team member be a senior-level staff person in this department.
- We encourage all team members to attend all five workshops listed under “Program Schedule”
- Facilitate a partnership with your assigned team advisor, who will be available to counsel and assist in applying the course learning with the team

- Up to 5 hours of free coaching from the presenters (one hour each) are being offered through the program to assist you in implementing storytelling into your organization’s communications
- Commit to integrating storytelling learnings into your organization’s communications efforts

Important notes for participation:

- We highly recommend attending the Virtual Kickoff Event if your organization is interested in applying to the overall StoryGrowing WNY program
- Vaccination is a vital tool to reduce the presence and severity of COVID-19 cases in the workplace, communities, and the nation. The John R Oishei Foundation and the Health Foundation for Western and Central New York kindly request that members of organizations selected for StoryGrowing WNY 2022 are vaccinated to safeguard the health of our participating organizations and community partners.
- If necessary, we reserve the right to move to a virtual format for COVID-19-related safety purposes.

Provided Resources and Expertise

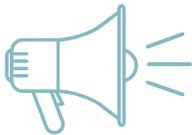

TRAINING SESSIONS

Five in-person training sessions will be held after the Virtual Kickoff Event for organizations accepted into the 2022 cohort. These partial-day sessions (ranging from 2.5 to 4 hours in length) will be led by subject matter experts. Additional materials to complement learning within each session will also be provided at no cost. There is no final project requirement for this year's program, although teams will be asked to integrate teachings/storytelling into their current organization communications and share results.

TEAM ADVISOR

Each organization will be assigned a team advisor to serve as the team's mentor for the duration of the program. An experienced communications professional, your advisor will attend each of the sessions with your team and will be available to provide insights and guide you in applying the course learning to your organization's needs, challenges, and opportunities.

COACHING

For additional help with specific areas of storytelling, the presenters of our training sessions will be available for individual coaching sessions. As part of your participation in the program, you'll be granted one hour each with each presenter (5) for further consultation. These hours are intended for advisement and consulting only—not to produce an actual product.
